Course Description

Each building in Rome, every fountain and every sculpture hide and reveal at the same time centuries of history, legends and myths. By studying the myths and their origins, students will be able to explore and recognize the relationship between mythology and architecture, as exemplified by buildings, paintings and sculpture. The course will give students the opportunity to survey the use of mythology throughout the centuries, from the ancient classical period to modern times.

Learning Objectives

By completing this course, students will:

- Recognize the relationship between architecture, society and mythology in ancient Rome;
- Estimate social implications of myths and beliefs;
- Develop consistent arguments in observing, interpreting and evaluating buildings, squares, fountains;
- Demonstrate a clear knowledge of specific vocabulary and techniques in the field of architecture;
- Estimate the cultural and social role of mythology in shaping and representing universal values;
- Prove the ability to research, critically analyze and interpret ancient myths through their current representations;
- Examine the representation of Italian and Roman societies through architecture.

Course Requirements

Quizzes (4x)

Students will take 4 quizzes (15 mins each) throughout the course. Each quiz, based on the topics discussed during classes, will include true and false, multiple choice and images identifications.

Oral Presentation

Topics for oral presentation will be chosen from a list provided by the professor in week 2. Students will be required to deliver a presentation (10 to 15 mins) to the class during the relevant on site class. The professor will provide extensive and precise guidelines.

Research Paper

Students will be required to write a short paper (1350-1450 words) based on their oral presentations. The professor will provide extensive and precise guidelines.

Final Exam
Students will take a final exam at the end of the course. The exam (true and false, multiple choice, images identification and short essays) will cover all topics discussed and analyzed in class.

Class Participation

Participation is valued as meaningful contribution in the digital and tangible classroom, utilizing the resources and materials presented to students as part of the course. Meaningful contribution requires students to be prepared in advance of each class session and to have regular attendance. Students must clearly demonstrate they have engaged with the materials as directed, for example, through classroom discussions, online discussion boards, peer-to-peer feedback (after presentations), interaction with guest speakers, and attentiveness on co-curricular and outside-of-classroom activities.

Attendance

Regular class attendance is required throughout the program, and all absences will result in a lower participation grade for any affected CIEE course. Due to the intensive schedules for Open Campus and Short Term programs, absences that constitute more than 10% of the total course will result in a written warning.

Students who transfer from one CIEE class to another during the add/drop period will not be considered absent from the first session(s) of their new class, provided they were marked present for the first session(s) of their original class. Otherwise, the absence(s) from the original class carry over to the new class and count against the grade in that class.

For CIEE classes, excessively tardy (over 15 minutes late) students must be marked absent.

Attendance policies also apply to any required co-curricular class excursion or event, as well as to any required field placement. Students may not miss placement/work hours at an internship or service learning site unless approved in advance by the Academic Director and placement supervisor. All students must complete all of the requisite 100 minimum work hours on site at the internship or service learning placement to be eligible for academic credit.
Students who miss class for personal travel, including unforeseen delays that arise as a result of personal travel, will be marked as absent. No make-up or re-sit opportunity will be provided.

Attendance policies also apply to any required class excursion, with the exception that some class excursions cannot accommodate any tardiness, and students risk being marked as absent if they fail to be present at the appointed time.

Absences for classes will lead to the following penalties:
