Programs offering course: Russian Area Studies
Language of instruction: Russian
U.S. semester credits: 4.00
Contact hours: 65.00
Term: Fall 2020

Course Description
This grammar course is a practical course of Russian language for intermediate students. It is assumed that during training, students should deepen and widen their knowledge of morphology and syntax of the Russian language. Attention will be given to word formation. Coursework includes a significant amount of written and oral exercises based on the communicative approach, as well as the analysis of various texts.

Learning Objectives
By completing this course, students will:
- analyze verb tenses and verb aspects, use them appropriately in oral speech and in writing;
- identify prefixial verbs and verbs of motion, adapt them successfully in speech;
- explain static and dynamic verbs, adapt them in everyday speech;
- read excerpts from modern Russian literature, engage in conversation about it with the instructor and peers, express one’s opinion on the topics brought by the texts.

Course Prerequisites
This course is intended for Russian language students at intermediate level. Student placement is contingent upon a written and an oral test administered at the beginning of the program.

Methods of Instruction
The main type of grammar work completed in the classroom is an explanation of new material by the teacher, and completion of training exercises. At the end of each studied topic a test will be carried out. In the class following the exam, errors will be analyzed. Tests may be retaken in the case of unsatisfactory performance.

Course Requirements
Quizzes
Midterm
Final Exam
Throughout the course two quizzes and two big written tests are given, based on grammar topics studied in the class. The final exam summarizes all the topics of the course and it lasts one full class session, i.e. 90 minutes.

Homework
Doing homework, which includes grammar exercises, is mandatory. Students are also expected to memorize the aspect pairs of new verbs.

Participation

Communication with others is essential to language learning. This part of the grade reflects your overall preparedness and participation in class. You are expected to attend class regularly, to prepare assigned materials for each class, and to participate with reasonable accuracy and enthusiasm.

Attendance

Attendance is crucial for successful completion of the class. Students are allowed to have two unexcused absences for each course for the whole semester program. These allowed unexcused absences should be used for situations such as minor illnesses without a doctor's note or personal situations that prevent the student from attending the class. Allowed unexcused absences should not be used in a planned way for travel or other activities. Unexcused absences beyond the limit of two will lower a student's grade by 2 points on the 100-point scale each. For example, if your overall score in the class is 90 (an equivalent of A-) and you have had three unexcused absences, your final score will be 88 (B+).

N.B. Course schedule is subject to change due to study tours, excursions, or local holidays. Final schedules will be included in the final syllabus provided to students on site.
